COALING STATION WILL BE ERECTED IN BAY, COSTING MILLION OR MORE

Inter-Island Company Closes
Contract With New York Firm
and Plant Is To Be Begun
When Dredging Is Finished

DOWSETT LAND SITE FOR MAMMOTH TOWERS

Expected To Be In Operation By
July 1 of Next Year and Able To Accommodate Any Vessel
That Can Enter Into Harbor

A COALING plant ten times the size of the present one will be erected by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company on the Dowsett land on the Kalia side of the harbor. When completed the investment will be $1,000,000 or more.

A report to this effect was carried to officials of the navigation company yesterday and confirmed. It was said that they had just closed a contract for construction of the plant with the C. W. Hunt Company of New York City.

This is the secret back of the purchase for $350,000 by the Inter-Island company of the Dowsett land recently, and the dredging for a slip which is now underway.

Ready In a Year

With the closing of the contract yesterday and the ordering of the material, the construction will be allowed to proceed rapidly. By the time the dredging has been finished the plant material will have arrived and the towers may be erected simultaneously with the dock. It is planned to have the plant completed and in operation by July 1 of next year.

The new coaling station will have no equal on the Pacific, it is said, exclusive of the Panama canal. It has been planned to meet the navigation needs of Honolulu for twenty-five years, but so designed that should traffic grow beyond expectations it could be doubled in size and capacity.

An Immense Plant

The new station will have 165,000 tons storage capacity. The capacity of the present plant is 25,000 tons. The station will consist of two unloading towers, each with a capacity of 200 tons per hour. There will be a traveling bridge with a span of 160 feet, carrying coal reclaiming machinery with a capacity of 250 tons an hour.

There will be installed a coal reloading equipment to coal vessels of any size alongside the dock. The coaling berths will accommodate seven vessels alongside the pier. Six may be coaled at the same time. Any vessel that can enter the harbor can be accommodated.

Most Modern Construction

At the end of the pier will be a large elevated storage in bunkers for immediate delivery to vessels at the dock. The coal as it passes into vessels will be weighed by a registering apparatus. The entire system will be electrically operated, including the coal transfer system with its cars. The wharf will be of the most modern and permanent type. The material in it will be reinforced concrete.

The cost of the improvement is apportioned in the following manner: Land, $350,000; dredging work, $200,000; wharf, $150,000 or $200,000; plant $200,000 or $250,000.

J. E. Rheeby, general superintendent and chief engineer of the Inter-Island company, gave out the details of construction when confirmation of the report of the new plant was asked.

Planning Well Ahead

In building such a large coaling station, one that will be adequate for probably twenty-five years, the Inter-Island company, it was said, was actuated by its experience in constructing the present plant. When the present station is completed, it will be replaced.

HINTS ADMINISTRATION HAS FALLEN DOWN BADLY

'Might Be Rendering Nation Some Service,' His Retort To Washington Criticism

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, August 27.—The outspoken words of Theodore Roosevelt in his violent speech at the Plattsburg military instruction camp on Wednesday, in which he lashed the stupidity of the Washington administration in the European and Mexican crisis, has created a decided sensation, added to yesterday by a reprimand cabled to Major General Wood, in charge of the military instruction camp, by Secretary of War Garrison, and by Mr. Roosevelt's spirited retort to the secretary.

Roosevelt Assails Garrison

"The secretary of war acted unjustly in reprimanding General Wood," said Mr. Roosevelt. "General Wood did not know what I intended to say, and is not responsible for my speech. If the administration had displayed one-tenth of the energy in holding Germany and Mexico responsible for the murder of American women and children as it now displays in order to prevent the teaching of the people in the methods of preparation to prevent further repetitions of such murders it would be rendering the nation some service."

Decries Blame on Wood

"Mr. Roosevelt also addressed Secretary Garrison by telegraph, stating that General Wood should be held blameless for anything that had occurred at Plattsburg, as he, Roosevelt, assumed all responsibility, the commanding general not having any advance idea as to what the address was to be."

Secretary Garrison's despatch to General Wood deprecated the permission given to Mr. Roosevelt to address the training recruits and others at the camp and gave emphatic orders that hereafter no similar speeches are to be allowed at Plattsburg or at any other of the camps or places under the control or direction of the war department.

TEXAS' INVADIED BY MEXICAN OUTLAWS

Rumors of Uprising Persist While Bandits Sack Ranches

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EL PASO, August 27.—Rumors of a Mexican uprising, which persisted along the border all day yesterday, coming from many points, were given weight by the reports of a score of raids carried out by Mexican bandits across the line and from the fact that Orozco, who was arrested here with Huerta on a charge of conspiracy to invade Mexico and who jumped his bond, made a daring visit to the city to see the members of his family.

Orozco Eludes Capture
Orozco, who posed as the son of Huerta, acting as his secretary, the deception being discovered when the Huerta party was placed under arrest, is one of the former Huerta military leaders. When he fled across the line, forfeiting his bond, his flight added to the weight of the charge against Huerta. Yesterday, defying the federal authorities, he entered the city disguised and spent some time with his relatives. His presence being suspected, federal agents attempted his capture, but he eluded them and again escaped.

It is believed that if any such widespread plot to rise in rebellion as is reported exists amongst the Mexican residents of Texas, Orozco is implicated in it.

Bandits Raid Ranches

Yesterday, in a score of isolated places, Mexican bandits raided ranches. In the public road at Falfurrias, near Corpus Christi, American peace officers had a running fight with a number of Mexican bandits, one of whom was captured wounded.

William Moody's ranch, near here, was attacked by a band from across the line. The family was driven from the ranch house, which was first looted and then set on fire. The Mexicans escaped with their booty.

Near Progresso, says a Brownville despatch, a band of twenty Mexicans crossed the line, announcing that they were the advance of a Mexican invasion.

RATES ON BRITISH EXCHANGE LOWEST FOR ONE CENTURY

Pound Worth Less Today In New York Than In
Year 1817

SELLING PRICE WILL GO TO LOWER FIGURE

London Exports Large Amounts
Of Gold To Meet American
Trade Balance

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, August 27.—The rates on British exchange are the lowest for a hundred years and the British pound is worth less today here than at any time since 1817.

Yesterday the pound was worth only $4.63 in American gold. Predictions are that the selling price of sterling will go still lower.

Great Britain has been exporting great amounts of gold to this port to meet the trade balance against her and other of the Entente nations.

HUGE SHIPMENT OF BRITISH GOLD

One million fifty thousand ounces of United States gold coin, valued at $19,534,200, consigned in England to J. P. Morgan & Co., and taken across the Atlantic by a British warship, reached the end of its long voyage August 11 at the United States sub-treasury in New York, after it had been carried in twenty-five motor trucks three miles through the streets under heavy police guard.

The Morgan firm declined to make any statement regarding the value or character of securities which accompanied the gold. It was rumored in Wall street that the gold and securities totaled between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000. It was generally declared that the securities were chiefly American railroad bonds and preferred shares of American railroad stocks.

Canada Sea Trucks Pass By

The shipment was made in 700 boxes. Crowds lined the streets as the trucks passed and a throng watched the unloading.

Of the total shipment, $35,000,000 was in gold and was in the form of American double eagles. The weight of the gold was about seventy-five tons. It was said to be the largest single shipment of gold ever sent across the Atlantic Ocean in one vessel.

It was brought over in a British battleship which was conveyed through the war zone and across the ocean by a cruiser and a flotilla of torpedo-boat destroyers to guard against an attack of German submarines. The cost of transferring it from London to New York was estimated to have been $250,000.

Canadian Treasury Reinforced

It was said that the British battle ship brought over not only the $25,000,000 in gold and securities for New York, but also a shipment of gold destined for Canada, whose treasury recently sent gold amounting to $135,000,000 to New York.

Great secrecy was maintained and all precautions were taken to prevent the German secret service from discovering the plan or route of forwarding the gold. At Halifax it was delivered into the custody of the American Express Company and when the armed train left that city it was preceded by a pilot engine for the purpose of testing bridges and to frustrate any attempt to wreck the train by the use of dynamite.

This precaution was suggested by the exploit of Werner Horn, the German reservist who attempted to blow up the St. Croix River bridge on February 2 to stop shipments of munitions to the allies.

Express Risk Makes Record

The route over which the train proceeded from Bangor, Maine, to New York was kept secret. Robert E. M. Cowie, vice president and general manager of the American Express Company, said that the transfer was the greatest risk ever taken by an express company.

J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, were the consignees. The purpose of the transfer of gold was understood to be to reinforce British credit in the United States and to improve the exchange situation, as the English pound sterling has depreciated of late. The securities are presumed to be American bonds, to be used as the basis for further advances to the British government.

Berlin Report Says Nation Does
Not Believe Sinking of Arabic
Will Result In Serious Discord
Or Break With United States

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, August 27.—That the message received by him on Tuesday from the German foreign office and delivered to the department of state is to be regarded as an intimation that orders have been issued to the commanders of German submarines not to attack merchant ships hereafter without giving them warning and allowing their captains the opportunity of surrendering, was the supplementary message delivered to Secretary of State Lansing yesterday by the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff.

Germany Has New Policy

The German ambassador stated further that it was his belief that a further communication from Berlin may be expected, in which the German government will outline a submarine policy satisfactory to the contentions of the American government. The policy will include a suspension of submarine warfare against passenger ships.

Count von Bernstorff reiterated his announcement that the German government did not intentionally take the lives of the Americans killed when the liner Arabic was torpedoed and sunk.

Lansing More Hopeful

Secretary Lansing, following a prolonged conference with von Bernstorff, appeared more hopeful than at any time since the news of the destruction of the Arabic, but was reserved in his statements on the general situation. On the other hand, officials of the government express themselves as most sanguine over the outlook and predicted a satisfactory solution, with the American demands upon Germany practically conceded.

BERLIN CONFIDENT OF NO BREACH

BERLIN, August 26.—As a result of developments of the last few days, Associated Press is in a position to state with authority that Germany does not consider the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic as a serious discord with the United States.

Germany is confident that when the United States learns all the facts regarding the sinking of the liner and receives the German statement, the issue will not be regarded as conducive to a breach.

It is learned that before the sinking of the liner Germany had adopted a policy designed to settle the submarine warfare problem as it affects the United States. The policy, it is understood, will be made public in connection with the German statement regarding the Arabic.

Germany's highest leaders believe that the issues arising from the submarine campaign will be settled upon a basis of mutual understanding.
